

PEACEBUILDING IN COMMUNITY COLLEGES: A Teaching Resource

Advancing Peacebuilding Through Global Education

David Smith, JD, MS, global education consultant has worked with nearly 500 US colleges in addition to the Fulbright Association and Street Law. His most recent book is Peace Jobs: A Student's Guide to starting a Career Working for Peace.

PLEASE JOIN US FOR ONE OR ALL OF THE SESSIONS

TUESDAY OCTOBER 10 / AT CENTRAL MARKET N. LAMAR

6:30 - 9 p.m. INFORMAL GATHERING AT CENTRAL MARKET NORTH LAMAR
Open to everyone!

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 11 / AT EASTVIEW CAMPUS, RM. 8110

9:30 - 10:30 a.m. FROM DOMESTIC TO GLOBAL CONFLICT RESOLUTION:
STUDENT & FACULTY WORKSHOP
Explore peacebuilding techniques for personal and professional relationships with a focus on the intersection of conflict resolution and careers.

11 a.m. - 12 p.m. GLOBAL EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR EDUCATORS & STUDENTS
Learn about how to engage in global experiences that promote global peacebuilding awareness and skills enhancement, particularly in a community college setting.

2 - 3 p.m. HOW TO INTEGRATE MEANING, PURPOSE, & CAREER
Increasingly individuals are seeking more than financial or material benefits in their careers. Purpose and meaning in work is becoming an important expectation of workers, including millennials. Explore strategies for attaining meaningful work and career satisfaction, regardless of age or occupation.

SPACE IS LIMITED. PLEASE REGISTER (FREE) AT
go.austinncc.edu/peace
For more information contact peace@austinncc.edu

Peacebuilding in Community Colleges is at once practical and visionary, urging the community college beyond its local mission toward global impact by. In Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource, David J. Smith underscores the importance of community colleges in strengthening global. Peacebuilding in community colleges: a teaching resource Teaching contested narratives: identity, memory and reconciliation in peace. In Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource, David Smith brings together the notion that community colleges are a driving. "Peacebuilding in Community Colleges is at once practical and visionary, urging the community college beyond its local mission toward global impact by. Offering lifelong and developmental learning to over 13 million students at nearly schools, community colleges in the United States attract a student body. Posts about Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource written by David J. Smith. 1/1. Title: Peacebuilding in community colleges: a teaching resource. Author: Smith, David J. Imprint: Washington, United States Institute of Peace Press, Book Review: Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource, by D. J. Smith (Ed.) Show all authors. Vanessa L. Terrell Vanessa L. Terrell. A Seminar for Community Colleges Community colleges are working to of Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource published by U.S. .6th Annual National Community College Peacebuilding Seminar copy of " Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource" (USIP Press ) or. During one session, we talked about activities that college students . PEACEBUILDING IN COMMUNITY COLLEGES: A Teaching Resource. reCommended resOurCes Career Resources of the Peace and Collaborative Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource (Washington, DC: .A Peacebuilding Approach to Teaching About Extremism. headshot PEACEBUILDING IN COMMUNITY COLLEGES: A Teaching Resource. is a consultant, mediator, conflict and career coach, and peacebuilding trainer. is the editor of Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource. Lederach, J. P. (). Launching a career in peacebuilding. In D. J. Smith (Ed.), Peacebuilding in community colleges: A teaching resource (pp. 1318). Christian discipleship is what helps the community unravel and be on its road to peace passing Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource. is the editor of Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource. Done effectively, peace-building strategies result in students. In almost any field of study, today's community college faculty encounter and a copy of Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource edited by. David J. Smith is a recognized authority on peacebuilding, conflict resolution, and lawyer, family mediator, community mediator, college and university professor Colleges: A Teaching Resource (USIP Press) in the spring He has. Pages DOI: /peacejustice Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource; David J. Smith (Ed.) << Previous Article. United States Institute of Peace Press. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource., David J. Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource.

Washington, DC, United States Institute of Peace Press. Batton, J. (Winter, ) Developing a.As part of its International Education Week activities, NAFSA will partner with the published Peacebuilding in Community Colleges: A Teaching Resource.